BoxScore – For Churches

The Church of the 2020's is facing so many challenges. Rapidly shifting cultural norms, attendance patterns and giving demographics will make it harder than ever to sustain growth and connect with new individuals and families. Without compromising their historic mission, churches will need to find new ways to connect with their communities and meet their new expectations. Here are some questions growing churches are asking themselves:

- Is our visitor experience compelling for first-timers and people new to church?
- Are we inspiring and engaging our prized volunteers?
- Are we providing consistent excellence in our children's environments?
- Are parents confident we have safe environments for our youth?
- What are the crucial engagement areas for development of our staff?

How does it work?

BoxScore captures real-time feedback already in people's heads - in under 30 seconds. By providing two quick numeric scores and an optional tweet-length comment, your people will provide surprisingly actionable insights. It's cloud-based for easy access from all devices with customizable questions. Request anonymous or individually-identifiable feedback via email, SMS, link, tablet or QR Code.

"We needed info about our small groups but had no way of getting this data without a complex survey project and lots of angst. Then we discovered BoxScore! Within an hour, we had implemented our simple feedback design.

"That Sunday, we asked the congregation to take out their phones and give us feedback! Presto – 60 seconds later we had over 400 responses. We learned that 100 new people wanted to join a group and 90%+ of those in a group were highly satisfied! We've been using this data to launch new groups and encourage our leaders ever since! Thanks, BoxScore!"

Pastor Richard Rhodes
Grace Chapel, Lexington MA

www.BoxScoreMe.com