

Video Meetings

They're here to stay. What started as an emergency accommodation is now a standard strategy for many organizations. People have always disliked wasting time in meetings, but a bad video meeting is the worst of all. Maintaining the engagement level of your people, customers or prospects in a meeting is crucial. Yet it is so much harder to gauge and accomplish via video.

Continuous Learning

Real-time feedback after every video call helps meeting leaders get the pulse of participants, better-engage people, and ensure these events are a valuable use of everyone's time.

Quick, Simple, Meaningful

BoxScore's simple engagement methodology allows meeting participants to provide meaningful, real-time feedback in less than 30 seconds. Simply post your personalized BoxScore link in your video meeting chat. Meeting participants click and respond to your two custom scoring questions plus an open-ended comment (with your custom prompt). Feedback can be anonymous or identified. The BoxScore SaaS application can be personalized and up and running for your organization in minutes. No IT integration or support needed. Works with any video call app.

Click here to try it out.

Real-Time Feedback

BoxScore users receive feedback in real-time via dashboard, notifications and analytics. Learn. Grow. Repeat.

Pricing Structure

No contract required. Monthly or annual subscription fee based on number of team members receiving feedback. Unlimited usage.

Visit us at: BoxScoreMe.com
BoxScore – Video Meetings
June 2020

"BoxScore has given us real-time visibility into the effectiveness of our meetings and how we can better engage our teams." Don Nelson, CTO

American Print Services Leah Rojas

Meeting Content
How useful and directly applicable to you was the content of this video meeting?
★★★★☆

Meeting Leadership
How professional, engaging and effective was Leah Rojas in leading this video meeting?
★★★★☆

Additional Comments
What is one way this video meeting could have been a more valuable use of your time?
[Text input field]

SUBMIT >>

BoxScore
© 2016 All Rights Reserved.

