For Higher Education Institutions

The Engagement Challenge
Staying connected with students and tracking their class-by-class engagement is harder than ever in this new COVID-19 mixed/virtual environment. Great teachers always want to know how well they are connecting with and supporting their students. A semester-end course evaluation is way too little – and way too late.

What is BoxScore?
BoxScore offers a simple (and fully customizable) two question + comment feedback format which can be completed by students in under 30 seconds. Capture and process their experiences in real-time after each class or week. You'll have a stream of immediately actionable insights -- and a built-in continuous improvement loop. You'll also get the data and analytics you need for big picture analysis of student and instructor trends. Track class sections and courses separately.

Real Value Added
A university professor said, "With real-time BoxScore feedback, I can now make real-time adjustments to help improve the learning success and experience of my students. This can only help improve the final course evaluations, too." And live feedback like this may be a school's best early indicator of student retention issues.

How Does It Work?
In minutes, set up your BoxScore user account with your desired questions. We're a SaaS/Cloud application, so no IT department support is needed. Setup done! Now, use BoxScore to simply engage your students regularly. Feedback can be anonymous or identifiable. Post your personalized BoxScore link online in your class materials or display your QR code on your final slide. Or connect via email, SMS or other messaging application. Students click and provide meaningful feedback in less than 30 seconds. Simple. Easy. Now you know what they're thinking and how they're feeling!

Try It Yourself
Experience the simplicity of providing feedback via BoxScore from the student's perspective. It really boosts your engagement rate. Click Here To Try It Out or scan this QR Code:

> "In the first half of the semester, BoxScore proved to be an amazing tool to get ongoing, immediate feedback from my students—and to respond in 'real time'. Then COVID-19 struck and we had to move overnight to distance learning. BoxScore became a real godsend, allowing me to stay connected during this challenging time. I have encouraged students to use this tool to share questions, comments, feelings, etc. BoxScore is enabling me to do my work in ways that increasingly prepare students for IMPACT in business."
